

Congratulations – You have been assigned to Japan!

Japan Constraints

Japan feels intense pressure to defend its national sovereignty. However, Japan is prevented from taking aggressive action as the result of several international agreements entered into after World War II. The country can only act in self-defense. However, it can engage in reciprocal action.

Japan Intelligence Capabilities

- Sees surface vessels and aircraft in Sea Zones bordering Japan at all time
- Can use intelligence capabilities to determine presence of ALL assets in up to 2 Land Zones and 1 Sea Zone per turn

U.S. – Japan Intelligence Relationship

The United States and Japan share an asset presence-acquired operating picture (Japan can see anything that U.S. vessels and ground forces can see). In order to share sensor- and sortie-acquired intelligence, a member of the sharing team must hand-carry a list of the shared visibility zones to the receiving team each turn that they wish to share.
